

2018 RADIO LOCAL CONTENT AND SERVICE REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY

1. Describe your overall goals and approach to address identified community issues, needs, and interests through your station's vital local services, such as multiplatform long and short-form content, digital and in-person engagement, education services, community information, partnership support, and other activities, and audiences you reached or new audiences you engaged.

WKNO-FM's goal is to continue to be a trusted community source for information and inspiration through local news features, arts coverage, classical music and community engagement utilizing the power of broadcast and digital media.

2. Describe key initiatives and the variety of partners with whom you collaborated, including other public media outlets, community nonprofits, government agencies, educational institutions, the business community, teachers and parents, etc. This will illustrate the many ways you're connected across the community and engaged with other important organizations in the area.

Community service and outreach efforts this year included continuing our partnership with the Memphis Museums to present "Memphis Moments" a narrative of "today in the region's history. Live remote musical broadcasts include rehearsals of the IRIS Chamber Orchestra offering a unique opportunity for our audience to experience the inner workings of orchestral performance; Opera Memphis preview broadcasts; and musical previews from the only professional theater in the area - Playhouse on the Square. A preview of the Memphis Symphony's coming performance airs on the Friday before the concerts.

Weekly local features in NPR's newscasts "Morning Edition" and "All Things Considered" include commentary from long-time marketing executive John Malmo concerned with local business issues, a food program called "The Weekly Dish" with local chef Jennifer Chandler, Health segments with Church Health Center, and a weekend calendar of community events on the "I Love Memphis Blog" with Holly Whitfield. WKNO-FM broadcasts a weekly morning newscast.

WKNO-FM partnered with Itacha College to produce and broadcast interviews and features during MLK 50 activities. In addition, the station hosted NPR's "Morning Edition" on the anniversary day of Dr. King's death in Memphis.

"Checking on the Arts" airs in the morning and evening each weekday showcasing the arts community and upcoming events. Darel Snodgrass and Kacky Walton produce some 500 interviews a year on local arts.

In addition, WKNO now offers listeners Performance Club where listeners attend a local arts performance and then meet to discuss the event and Book Club for listeners to engage in community activities.

3. What impact did your key initiatives and partnerships have in your community? Describe any known measurable impact, such as increased awareness, learning or understanding about particular issues. Describe indicators of success, such as connecting people to needed resources or strengthening conversational ties across diverse neighborhoods. Did a partner see an increase in requests for related resources? Please include direct feedback from a partner(s) or from a person(s) served.

WKNO-FM's various initiatives generate feedback via social media as part of our continuing community conversation whether it be the arts or news features.

Local productions are available as an ongoing community resource at wknofm.org which provides feedback based on the number of views.

4. Please describe any efforts (e.g. programming, production, engagement activities) you have made to investigate and/or meet the needs of minority and other diverse audiences (including, but not limited to, new immigrants, people for whom English is a second language and illiterate adults) during Fiscal Year 2018, and any plans you have made to meet the needs of these audiences during Fiscal Year 2019. If you regularly broadcast in a language other than English, please note the language broadcast.

Daily arts/events interviews ("Checking on the Arts") include representatives from such diverse groups as the Hattiloo Theatre, National Civil Rights Museum, Latino Memphis, the Chinese Society, India Memphis and the Cultural Development Foundation. The WKNO news staff covered issues particularly poignant in the minority community including civil rights, local election coverage and education reform. Political analyst Otis Sanford has a new weekly segment with News Director Christopher Blank that airs during "Morning Edition" and "All Things Considered" each Friday.

5. Please assess the impact that your CPB funding had on your ability to serve your community. What were you able to do with your grant that you wouldn't be able to do if you didn't receive it?

WKNO will continue to present remote broadcasts showcasing various arts and cultural organizations using IP equipment that allows us to broadcast from any site with broadband.

We are continuing to increase local news gathering through relationships with local news outlets as well as adding new reporters/producers in the year ahead. This expansion of news resources will increase our ability to produce more local news features and interviews.
